

Capable of violence

Sharon L. Heath

August 20, 2006

Naperville -- I read with horror the front-page story of the pit bulls who attacked the two children and everyone who tried to help them.

There is no excuse for allowing such violent, dangerous and unpredictable animals to live in our midst.

As the story pointed out, these dogs can appear docile and friendly but are capable of horrible violence.

If you want a dog, there are plenty of other less-dangerous breeds.

Pit bulls should be banned in this state, and even in this country.

Copyright © 2006, Chicago Tribune